THE TRUTH SOMETIMES NOT FOUND OUT UNTIL TOO LATE.

SUCH is often the case in regard to persons taking medicine. They are induced by plausible reasoning, false representation and doctrines, to employ medicines that, so far from being adapted to their disease or sickness, absolutely increase the symptoms, destroy the constitution, rack the whole system, and bring on a gradual decline, terminating in death; previous to the fatal termination, however, (but unfortunately too late,) the truth is found out that the pills, mixtures, &c. they have been taking were composed of the most powerful and dangerous ingredients, prepared too by persons knowing nothing of disease or the nature of the medicines they recommended, depending altogether upon the "general doctrine of such impostors," that their medicines will "kill or cure." Be advised, then, if you find it necessary to take some medicine for purifying the blood and cleansing the bowels, to take nothing but Dr. Leidy's justly and deservedly celebrated Sarsaparilla BLOOD PILLS, the only pills containing Sarsaparilla in their composition—the safest and best as well as the most effectual that can be taken.
Old and young, at all times, without regard to weather, may take them without fear of taking cold, and without restraint from occupation or usual course of living. Upwards of 1,000 certificates have been published, various times, of their efficacy. More than 100,000 boxes have been sold in Philadelphia in twelve months. These facts go to prove their value, or so many never would be sold in so short a time, in a place where they are manufactured; this, however, arises in part from the fact that the manufacturer of them (Dr. Leidy) is well known at home as a regular physician and apothecary, knowing the true nature of diseases and of the medicines he recommends, attested by the most celebrated physicians, among whom are Dr. Nathaniel Chapman, Dr. Wm. Gibson, Dr. W. E. Horner, Dr. Samuel Jackson, Dr. Robert Hare, Dr. P. S. Physic, Dr. T. C. James, Dr. W. P. Dewees, Dr. J. Redman Coxe, Rev. W. H. Delaney, Robert Adrian, L.L.D., &c. &c.

Orders for Dr. Leidy's BLOOD PILLS are daily received from the North, South, East, and West, and the most flattering accounts, from every direction, of their unparalleled success. A single box (25 cents) may save as many dollars, if taken in time, instead of the dangerous medicines now forced on the public, and by taking which persons so often find it necessary at last to take Dr. Leidy's Blood Pills, to counteract their injurious consequences.
They are prepared only, and sold Wholesale and Retail, at Dr. Leidy's Health Emporium, No. 191, North Second street, below Vine street, Philadelphia.

MISCELLANEOUS.

For the Whig Standard.

A NEW SONG TO AN OLD TUNE.

AS SUNG BY ONE OF THE PUPILS OF MR. HEWITT AT HIS "MUSICAL SOIREE" ON THURSDAY EVENING LAST.

I sing a song to that same old tune,
But not a word of Fox or Coon;
My theme shall be the single men—
A crusty, moping, crabbed clan!
CHORUS.
Get out of the way, "lords of creation"—
The girls are all for Annecration!

Old bachelors we all despise—
Young ones find favor in our eyes;
Amongst the lot before me now,
There's one who wants a wife, I know!
Get out of the way, &c.

Some sing in praise of single life,
And say that double 's toil and strife;
Let such migrate to desert isles,
And never feast on woman's smiles.
Get out of the way, &c.

A bachelor lives by himself—
A lone, morose, and heartless elf;
Just like a spider, there he lies,
And kills his time by killing flies!
Get out of the way, &c.

He cooks his meals—and such a mess!
'Tis season'd o'er with bitterness;
His hearth is cold—his light is dim—
The sweets of life are sour to him!
Get out of the way, &c.

He seeks, at last, gay company,
And thinks his pulse will beat more free;
But like a bear, he mopes about,
Until the ladies laugh him out.
Get out of the way, &c.

Of ridicule he's made the butt,
Society gives him the cut,
Until fate cuts his thread of life,
And then he dies—without a wife!
Get out of the way, &c.

And, now I've sung my little song,
I hope it has not been too long—
If you're opposed to single life,
I'll tell you where to get a wife.
Get out of the way, &c.

A PICTURE OF GLORY.

By this time the reserve had penetrated into the town, and was driving from their hiding-places on the ramparts the enemy whose gallant fire had so annoyed its men upon their approach. Unable to make head against their disciplined assailants, the desperate Afghans rushed madly down from the works, distributing themselves over the town, and cutting furiously at everything in their way, while our troops now assembled within the walls in great numbers, blocking up all escape, hunted them down like so many wild beasts. It was now no longer a struggle, but absolute slaughter. The darkness which had prevailed during the conflict increased the horror of the scene, and, being more favorable to the besiegers than the besieged, the latter suffered most severely. Every street was strewn with the mangled bodies of the dying and the dead. One fortified house had held out with desperate valor, and fifty-eight of the Afghans perished in its defence alone. Five hundred and fourteen dead bodies were picked up within the wall and buried by the British; sixteen hundred became prisoners, and the number of the wounded was probably about the same. One hundred more it is supposed were cut up by the cavalry, who scoured the plains in all directions; and for weeks afterwards, dead bodies were found in various parts of the town, in narrow streets and the recesses of private buildings, mostly those of men who had since died of their wounds; so that the total loss of the Afghans in slain was probably little short of a thousand. Such are the harrowing details of these scenes of glory.—The War in Afghanistan.

DISGUSTING EXHIBITION.

As the swarthy, sun-burnt, and savage-looking being, in his soiled and ragged costume, appeared before us with a basket full of the crawling reptiles, we thought him not an unrepresentative of one of that "magic clan" with which his profession appeared to identify him. The exhibitions of this worthy, with his numerous family of serpents and scorpions which he had collected from the neighboring desert, strongly recalled to mind the Indian "Samp wallahs," with this addition, that, having made them perform certain evolutions for the amusement of the company, he concluded the entertainment by next devouring alive one of his pupils. As a preliminary to this disgusting operation, the ophiophagus drew out one of the largest of his snakes, when, having bared his arms, and grasped him firmly by the body in both hands, he appeared to work himself into a state of frenzy to prepare for the revolting scene about to take place: his eyes glared, his countenance was contorted, and, grinning a ghastly smile, which showed to advantage a formidable range of white sharp tusks, he suddenly seized the reptile with his teeth, behind the head, tore the skin half-way down its writhing body, out of which biting several large morsels he greedily swallowed them, after grinding well, betwixt his powerful masticators, the quivering flesh mixed with blood, bones, and vitals. The greater part of the serpent thus rapidly disappeared as would, no doubt, soon have done the entire animal had we not, in uncontrollable disgust, turned away from the horrible performance.—Colonel Napier's Wild Sports in Europe, Asia, and Africa.

A MEXICAN BUTCHER'S SHOP.

It is about the size of a stall, the whole front being open to the street, with a fine game cock tied by the leg, on the sill. Suspended from the ceiling, and but two or three feet from the doorway, hangs the entire carcass of a beef, at a short distance behind is the counter; and in the rear of this again is a row of kids and delicate morsels, festooned with gilt paper and yards of sausages, hung in the most tasteful lines and curves. In the centre of this carnal show rests an image of the "Holy Virgin of Guadalupe," under whose protection he thus places his larder and his custom. The most interesting figure, however, in the picture, is the butcher himself; a sentimental looking fellow, with black eyes, curling locks, and altogether a most captivating personage, bearing a sort of oily lustre that polishes his skin. I invariably find him lounging romantically over his saw and cleaver, strumming his guitar to half a dozen housemaids, who, doubtless, are attracted to his steaks by his amatory staves. It is rare to see such a mixture of meat and music. What would be said of us at home, to see the celebrated Jones or Smith, in the Fulton Market, mounted on a block, with a blue ribbon about his neck, and a dozen damsels grouped around him, listening, with rapt air, to the pet morceau of the last opera! Yet the suggestion might be useful in these days, when invention is taxed to the utmost for new modes of attracting the people. In Mexico, at any rate, it is characteristic, and I have therefore noted it.—Mayer's Mexico, as it was and is.
